How the Community Access Program (CAP) helped one person with a life changing event

The Spectacular Technology Attitude Recognition (STAR) award is given annually to the individual that displays a desire for personal development and lifelong learning. This is exemplified by:

- Willingness to learn new things
- Open-minded attitude
- Embracing new technology

The 2008-09 recipient of this award was Scott Quibell of Kawartha Lakes. His long term manufacturing job ended when his company closed. He was forced to reflect and decide what to do. He was willing to go out on a limb and try something new. He started with a basic course at TAG and progressed through a total of five courses. After learning about Internet & email he took a very challenging Microsoft Access Database course to prepare him to work in his newly chosen field as a Personal Support Worker. Scott says that learning at TAG was fun and the instructors were very patient and understanding.
